His longstanding relationships with craftsmen, trades, and suppliers, coupled with his knowledge of cutting edge new corners, are invaluable. What makes Mario unequalled is his passion for design and his ability to blend creative panache and functional practicality. His expertise in space planning and deep-rooted knowledge of construction leads to innovative and cost sensitive solutions. Keeping an eye on the bottom line while inciting design enthusiasm, Mario manages to supersede the client's expectations.

AT WORK...

Mario Cassar ensures that each interior is professionally managed every step of the way, with critical path timing from vision to a celebratory ribbon cutting. The result is an interior that is stylised, functional, cost effective, personal and more than memorable. This is evident in Mario's latest work in corporate design at the new offices of MIB Ltd in Ta'Xbiex. Following further business expansion, the main aim of the client was to create an open plan of offices without sacrificing privacy. This took various studies however once the layout was identified, the décor was addressed. The departments have been distinguished through different custom designs of the furniture and separated through glass partitions. This was mainly emphasized through the use of light coloured woods such as beech combined with shades of earth and neutral colours, namely the grey applications. One can also notice the imposing bastions surrounding the Capital City as well as Fort Manoel and the marina at the backdrop of the said offices. The combination worked out in a way that one easily feels at home from the moment he enters into the offices. Indeed, the goal of the client!

AT HOME...

When it comes to home, Mario Cassar prides himself on not having a specific, definitive Mario Cassar "look". The adopted process is to work very closely with the clients to create a home that is distinctly their own, reflecting their tastes, and their lifestyles. Indeed, Ville Michel, Mellieha has been designed to ensure open floor plans with the notion to let in abundant natural sunlight. Being fully detached, it was possible to have all the rooms of the apartments have direct external access to its surrounding landscaped ring road. Highlighting the importance of privacy the common areas have been spaciouly designed to ensure enough retreat between each and every apartment. In this project, Mario Cassar ensured that everything from designer gypsum ceilings to the joinery installed at Ville Michel be created with an obsessive eye for detail and an understanding of genuine luxury. Further adorning the spacious common areas is an entire 6 storey wall of floor-to-ceiling glass and mosaic structure which not only highlights a contemporary design concept but also aims to give life and a sense of freshness and wellbeing to the residence. Another rare to find in this luxury residential concept are the two massive penthouses overlying the block fully loaded with the unimaginable, starting with the suite followed by the wave pool. As described by many, including people in the real estate sector, Ville Michel is a masterpiece where no stone has been left unturned.

AT LEISURE...

For Mario Cassar large or small projects are treated with the same integrity and dedication leading to high quality results that consistently nail the brief. His latest project in refurbishing The New Tattingers (TNT) is in this sense a certificate of quality and accomplishment. The owners of this renowned discotheque/club wanted to give a rejuvenated look to reflect today's trend in entertainment, hence entrusting Mario with such project and to come up with a concept. The chosen theme for the refurbishment was a retro style one. This was achieved through the application of various self-designed wall papers all around the premises. Still, the entrance gives that warm welcome one expects. The installation of a considerable number of LCD monitors strategically placed gives that proper club feel. The dance floor was raised to create continuity along the dancing area and the bar-ways. As described by the owners of the club themselves, this was indeed a daring proposal which really worked out with our existing and new customers alike, the exact phrase being 'trust Mario and you won't regret it!'

The common key factor in all the above three projects is Mario Cassar.
